4 Pay Days For Co-Ops

Pay day for tobacco co-ops in the Carolinas and Virginia will come four times a year in addition to the substantial cash advances which members of the marketing association for tobacco are now receiving for their deliveries. This announcement was made at the monthly meeting of the directors of the Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association at Raleigh on December 16.

Quarterly statements will be made to the associated tobacco farmers showing the stocks of tobacco on hand. Instead of waiting for the sale of a large proportion of the entire pool, the members of the big cooperative will receive full payment first for those deliveries to their association which have sold most readily, according to the statement of their directors, whose announcement to the membership of 90,000 tobacco farmers in the association, follows:

"At the regular December meeting of board of directors of Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association held at Raleigh on December 16, 1924, the board directed:

1. That settlement for the 1922 and 1923 Eastern North Carolina crops to be as early as the calculations now in progress will permit.

2. That final settlement for the old belt North Carolina and Virginia 1922 crops, except for the four grades unsold, be made as early as calculation can be completed.

3. That after these settlements have been made, the association make quarterly statements to its members showing stocks of tobacco on hand and that it make quarterly payments, which payments shall be strictly by grade and shall be in accordance with the condition of each grade pool on the regular quarterly day. This action by the board means that in instances where particular grades are disposed of, the members delivering those grades will receive payments on them without waiting for the sale of the entire crop within that belt pool."

New Fad Sweeps Country

Thousands and Thousands are Trying to Solve Cross Word Puzzles

Within the memory of man there has never before been a fad or pastime that has swept the country from coast to coast with sensational popularity of cross word puzzles. Everywhere you go, in no matter what walk of life, you find the cross word puzzle fans by the thousand. No village or hamlet seems to be too small to be exempt—no class of persons too exclusive or highbrow to escape it. Strangely, inasmuch as cross word puzzles date back to the origination of script, the fad has taken a mighty hold on the people. Mah Jongg and Bridge have been pushed aside and even the radio has found a competitor in the fascinating, intriguing study of the elusive words to fill the horizontal and vertical squares. The pastime has assumed such enormous proportions that the New York American is now publishing a new cross word puzzle every day in the week, with a bigger, better, different kind on Sunday.

The answers to the puzzles in the daily American are printed the day following the appearance of the puzzle. Anybody who is not solving cross word puzzles these days is behind the times. But they need not stay behind the times. The New York American will keep them up to date.

First Steam Hammers

The steam hammer was invented by James Nasmyth, who first conceived the invention in 1839, but did not patent it until 1845. Meanwhile a steam hammer had been actually built at the iron works of Le Creusot, France. The first Nasmyth hammer was erected in 1843 at Bridgewater foundry, at Patricroft, near Manchester, England.

STATE CAPITAL

Cotton Crop Returns Show Loss.

Richmond.—

Virginia's 1924 cotton crop will belong to the farmers of the State $3,320,000, compared with $8,000,000 from the crop of 1923, according to a statement just issued by Henry M. Taylor, State agricultural statistician. While the acreage for the past year was increased over the acreage in 1923 the yield was small due to unfavorable weather. Mr. Taylor declared, however, that he did not expect that the unfavorable year would reduce the acreage in 1925. He stated that he expected the acreage to be as large as that for 1924 and possibly a slight increase.

This tremendous decrease in the value of the crop to Virginia farmers resulted in spite of the fact that the acreage planted in the State was about 30 per cent. greater than last year, the figures being 95,000 acres, compared with 73,000 acres in 1923.

Last year's yield per acre was very high, 325 pounds, while the cold, wet weather in the spring resulted in a yield of only 161 pounds this year, a very low figure.

Although Virginia's crop was poor, and the price was low, the total production for the entire country is estimated at 13,157,000 bales, against 10,139,671 last year. This great increase in the other cotton States is ascribed as the chief cause for the low prices received.

Just the reverse was the case last year. Virginia's crop was better than the average for the rest of the country, the price was high, and Virginia farmers made good profits.

Appeal Granted in Bond Case.

The Supreme Court of Appeals granted an appeal and supercedeas in the Danville bond election case, the matter being contested after the voters of that city had ordered the issue of bonds for school and other improvements. The case was first taken before Judge J. Turner Clement, of Pittsylvania, who rendered a decision sustaining the validity of the election and the bond issue. The bonds have been advertised to be sold this month, and this proceeding will possibly interfere with the matter. The court required a bond of $75,000 before the appeal is effective.

The court also allowed a writ of error and supercedeas in the case of Milton Lee, convicted in the circuit court for Essex county, for threatening to kill C. Ryland Loving, his cousin. The man was given a year on the road.

The court also allowed an appeal in the case of the Virginia Railway and Power Company against the city of Norfolk, the decision being due to the paving controversy that has been under investigation for many months.

Democrats Attack On Co-operatives.

Speakers on the subject of cooperative marketing at the meeting of the Lion Club here, Colonel J. H. Grainger, treasurer of the Tobacco Growers' Association, outlined the secret tactics of the organization and denounced the propaganda against the co-operative movement.

"The farmer is the backbone of our nation and when he is prosperous, the whole country is prosperous," stated Colonel Craig.

Beginning its third year with 90,000 members, the Tobacco Growers' Association has changed in two years the system of marketing which has been in effect over fifty years, according to Colonel Craig.

Richmond Officers On Battalion Staff

Three Richmond officers of the One Hundred and Eleventh Field Artillery have been appointed to the battalion staff of the Second Battalion of that regiment, Major R. B. Liggan announced.

The appointments are: First Lieutenant Hunter A. Pendleton, Battery E, as captain and adjutant; First Lieutenant Walter R. Gentry, former second lieutenant of field artillery and cavalry, United States Army, as first lieutenant and liaison officer, and First Lieutenant Theo Kelley, Battery A, as first lieutenant and plans and training officer.

Seek Federal Assistance.

Federal assistance will be sought in the development of Virginia's vast acreta of water power. To this end J. T. Horsley, of Appomattox, chairman of the State commission on water-power development, and Major LeRoy Hodges, managing director of the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce, will confer in the next few days with government officials.

Chalkley Urged To Make Race.

John W. Chalkley, of Big Stone Gap, former member of the Virginia Legislature, and one of the leading coal and land operators in the State, is being urged to make the race for Governor in the primary to be held next year. The talk is that the bond forces of the State are united to have some one of their way of thinking enter the contest to make the fight on the issue that the present system of building highways is not in keeping with the best interests of the State.

Lucky Criminals

The Bruguzas, one of the largest diamonds in the world, was found by three criminals, who had been sent into exile among the cannibal tribes and wild beasts in the Brazilian interior. They took the stone to a priest, who turned it over to the governor. The gem became the glory of the crown jewels of Portugal, and the king, in gratitude, pardoned the exiles.

Battery Operates Watch

In France an ingenious jeweler has made a watch that is one of the most unusual articles yet turned out by the watchmaker's bench. It is a watch that is run by a wet battery, which is inclosed in the watch case, and is said to keep perfect time.

T. W. Moses & Co. made an average of $24 88 for large break on the floors of their tobacco warehouse here a few days ago. More than 50,000 pounds of leaf are received here. Both warehouses close to-morrow, the 19th and will open again on the 5th day of January.

Across on the Campbell side one evening last week unknown parties entered the home of J. W. Davis and destroyed about 300 sticks of tobacco. Mr. Davis is non-Co-op and some people are disposed to lay the illegal acts at the door of the Co-ops. It is to be regretted that even any suspicion should be attached to the Co-ops Co-operation must grow by lawful and peaceful means and Coops would do well to help Mr. Davis in fixing and establishing the guilt of these outlaws.

All automobile owners in Virginia who have titled their cars under the new title law are receiving application blanks which must be used in applying for 1925 licenses. To avoid confusion do not use the old application blanks says the Commissioner. All checks should be made payable to James M. Hayes, Jr., Motor Vehicle Commissioner, the checks being credited. Care should be employed in using the new application blanks supplied from the Commissioner's office for the new 1925 licenses. By following the above instructions to the letter, says Commissioner Hayes, Licenses will be issued and secured promptly.

BARLEYCORN AND BUSINESS

A great honor descended on Ypsilanti, Mich., not long ago. President Harding was choosing ten delegates to represent the United States government at the International Congress Against Alcoholism held in Denmark in August. One of the ten was Mrs. E. L. Calkins of "the town with the queer name."

And thereby hangs a tale. Once upon a time—to begin in the approved fashion—a mutual acquaintance told me of Mrs. Calkins. "Left a widow without income or apparent means of making one," the story commenced, as I recall it. "Nothing to go on except that strenuous determination to meet fate, that Roosevelt standardized among American characteristics."

The immediate way out that she took, escapes my memory. But she didn't run off to Detroit or Chicago or New York on the plea that all the money to be made was piled up in the money centers. Her stock to the people she knew. Somehow she got into real estate.

The strenuous determination grew. So did the money. At the time I heard the story the unencumbered capital was, as I recall it, $20,000 or $30,000.

Here comes in the sequel of the tale. I wrote Mrs. Calkins for the story of her real estate ventures.

"I was much amused when I read your letter," she answered. "Bless you, all I've done in real estate is just a sideline. My real job has been fighting John Barleycorn. But I'll see what I can make of it as soon as I find time—if you're sure you want a story on a 'dizzy Street' scale."

Well, unnaturally, she never found time for the story when passports and such more important affairs claimed her time. So here it is with the "sideline" overshadowed by the President's recognition of her value on the main job.

She did not get the appointment through any "pull." She got it because the folks near home, the same folks that she had years before decided were good enough to live with and work with, wanted her recognized. More distant neighbors took up the idea. The state grange, the state women's organizations, the governor and each of his staff, all requested the appointment to Copenhagen. Calkins, she had, one might say, the backing of Main Street on the Main Street scale. And it won!

Wedding Anniversaries

The wedding anniversaries are: First, cotton; second, paper; third leather; fourth, fruit and flowers; fifth, wooden; sixth, sugar; seventh woolen; eighth, India rubber; ninth willow; tenth, tin; eleventh, steel; twelfth, silk and linen; thirteenth lace; fourteenth, ivory; fifteenth, crystal; twentieth, china; twenty-fifth silver; thirtieth, pearl; fortieth, ruby; fiftieth, golden; seventy-fifth, diamond.

Holland's Colonies

Holland has in her colonial possessions a population of about 30,000,000 more than seven times as large as that of the mother country. The most valuable of her possessions is Java, famous for its coffee.

AUNT JINNY LEE'S PLANTATION RECIPES

Fortune telling is a most fascinating pastime for those young enough to feel young, and old enough to know the way of reading which is most true. The way of reading which is most true, Aunt Jinny called "common sense." My, but that we try word it in different ways as the years go by! Sometimes I think that the most common sense there is is "horse sense" and just pay your bills when you get them. Common sense is a good thing to have around the house and it is a good thing to have around the farm, but better still, if you want to be happy, is to have a little nonsense mixed in with the common sense. Then the common sense will make the children learn.

Cheese straws are delicious to nibble when you are reading or when you are talking with your friends. Here is what one culinary connoisseur has to say about cheese straws. They are made of flavor, tell her to make them like this:

Sift together the flour and one-quarter teaspoonful of paprika and two teaspoonfuls of salt. Cut in two-thirds cupful of butter and add one cupful grated cheese. Mix lightly and roll out a little thicker than for pastry. Cut in narrow strips and bake in a hot oven until a golden brown.

Caviar in Hamburg

The world's largest storehouse of caviar—supplying the New York, London and Paris markets—is in Hamburg. Outside of Russia, caviar is one of the most expensive luxuries of European tables. But in Petrograd or Moscow it is a common dish of the working man.

Gas on Stomach

Won't Let You Sleep

Gas pressing on heart and other organs sometimes causes a restless, nervous feeling and prevents sleep. Adlerika helps any case gas on the stomach, unless due to deep-seated causes. Money To Loan To Farmers

Appomattox County Farmers will please remember that we still have plenty of money to loan them on as long time as they wish at 5½ per cent interest.

Clean up your small debts and get it all in one with easy payments that you will know just when to expect.

Ask any one of our members who are the best business farmers of the county and they will tell you that they are not only satisfied, but that it is the best and cheapest money that the farmer can get.

If you see that you will need money, make your application at once so appraisement can be made before winter and we can get your money in a very short time.
